WESTERN RACING NOW IN LINE WITH BEST

By J. W. MARCHBANK

Provided no major mistakes are made in conducting the sport, racing should have a highly successful spring. From the Atlantic to the Pacific preparations are under way for the proper presentation of the great game. The inaugural meeting in New York, that at Jamaica, will open on Saturday, April 20. By a coincidence, probably forecasting the best of sport at the two tracks, racing at "New Tanforan" is scheduled to begin on the same afternoon.

Interest in the thoroughbred pastime is at a high pitch and it is possible the people will continue to make frequent visits to the courses over an extended period. As I have pointed out heretofore, however, the utmost vigilance must be exercised or the whole structure of racing will fall. Dividend-mad promoters have killed the game before and will kill it again if given any kind of leeway.

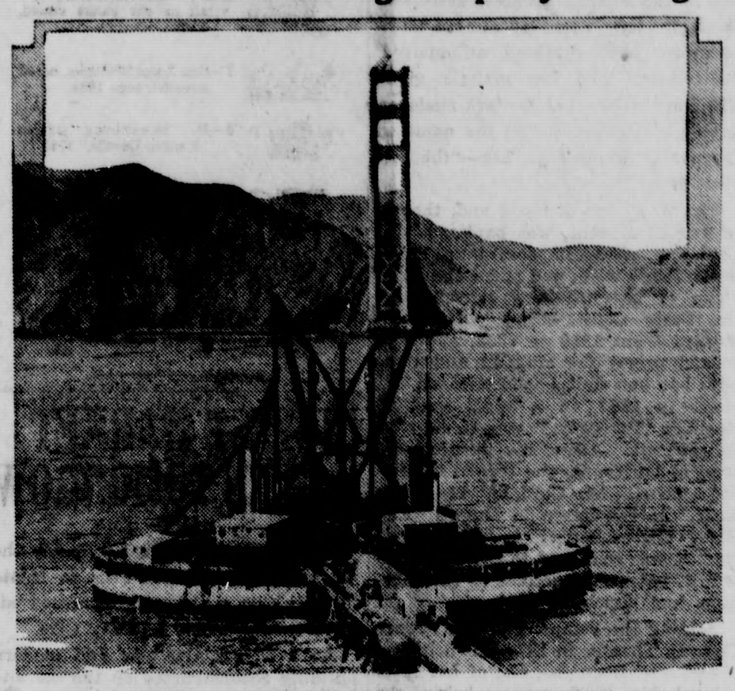

The Thoroughbred Record, a conservative organ of breeders, in commenting on the opening at Jamaica, recently said:

"With leading owners of thoroughbreds supporting the sport, it is expected that the Jamaica course will usher in what should prove to be the rejuvenation of racing throughout the United States. It would seem that the efforts being made by those interested in the development of the sport cannot fail to win recognition and approval of the racegoing public."

"Approval of the racegoing public" is an ideal that should not be forgotten; but unfortunately commercialization has a tendency to creep into the game in this neck of the woods now that, after a long and arduous up-hill struggle, it has been established.

The public must make itself felt and not allow the game to go on the rocks again, simply through lack of vigilance. The accent must be on the sport itself. I, for one, cannot see why the return from the investment in a racing enterprise should be more than the perfectly fair one of ten per cent.

Golden Gate Bridge Rapidly Rising

A new and spectacular landmark has commenced to take form at San Francisco's harbor entrance. It is the south tower of the Golden Gate bridge that, with its twin on the Marin side of the Golden Gate, will support the world's greatest suspension span. Already the first sections of tower steel, some of the units of which weigh 70 tons, have been erected and approximately 1,500 tons of fabricated material are on the loading platform on the south pier fender in readiness to be erected. Photograph shows the south tower of the Golden Gate bridge. In the distance can be seen the north tower on the Marin side.

CONGRESSMAN COMMENDS NEW ALASKA ROAD

Thinks Highway Would Be Great Aid To Revival Of Gold Mining

A well as many other legislators at the National Capital, John J. McGrath, congressman from this district, favors building of an international highway to Alaska along the West coast.

The following is a copy of a letter commending the iniative of one of our citizens in advocating this movement:

"Congress of the United States
House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., February 15, 1935.

"Mr. J. W. Marchbank, Daly City, California.

"My Dear Mr. Marchbank:

"A mutual friend of ours has forwarded me a copy of your excellent pamphlet "Golden Highways and Unemployment."

"I wish to congratulate you upon the excellent presentation of your case for the International Highway on the Pacific Coast. I am particularly impressed by your ideas concerning the probable revival of gold mining in Alaska.

"I am taking the libery of forwarding your pamphlet to the Bureau of Public Roads for their consideration.

"With very warm personal regards, I am,

Sincerely yours,
JOHN J. McGRATH."

PRESIDENT WILL SEE EXPOSITION

Word has been received by G. A. Davidson, chairman of the board of directors of the California Pacific International Exposition, that President Roosevelt has definitely decided that he will visit San Diego during the coming summer.

The attendance of the President will be made a gala event, and a program of elaborate entertainment has been planned in his honor.

Birthday Party

Recently little Dolores Valentino celebrated her second birthday with a party at the home of her parents.

The little folks attending were Jack and Billy Ferro, Audrey and Bobby Wall, Gene and George Lagomarsino, Betty and Billy Valentino, Raymond Lagomarsino and others.

TO OUR READERS

In working up to the achievement we have ever in mind, that of making the Daly City Record the best weekly newspaper in the state of California, we must have the hearty co-operation of the residents of this live community. The editor hears in unison the ejaculation from all readers:

"Why, how can we help?"

Succinctly stated, you can help the editor to accomplish what you must admit to be his highly laudable ambition by bringing or sending news to the Record office, and, what is equally important, bringing or sending it early.

TO SHOW CITY'S NEW RESERVOIR

The new Daly City reservoir of 1,000,000 gallon capacity is completed and will be open for public inspection on Sunday, March 10, from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The municipal water system now has a 3,000,000 gallon storage capacity with practically perfect pressure for both household and fire fighting purposes in all sections of the city.

This new reservoir, built in solid rock at an elevation of about 400 feet, and which will serve the Vista Grande, Castle Gardens and Colma sections of Daly City, will considerably reduce pumping costs. The public will be interested to see this splendid work, which was constructed with CWA and SERA labor.

To reach the plant turn off Hillside boulevard opposite Gambetta street and follow the signs. You can drive to within one block of the reservoir.

On inspection day employees of the water department will be on hand and will gladly explain the construction and workings of this project.

WARNING OUT IN NORTHERN RUSH

Authorities have sent out notification to prospectors that it is extremely dangerous to "rush" to the Lake Athabaska region, in northern Alberta, where it is reported there has been a rich strike.

The temperature is as low as 60 degrees below zero and the snow is very deep at this time of year.

Early comers claim to have found rich deposits of free gold. More than 200 claims have been staked, mostly by men who went in by airplane.

GREAT MARINE SPECTACLE TO BE EXPO FEATURE

Many Naval Vessels Are To Participate In Large Water Pageant

More than 1000 vessels of the United States Navy, yachts, fishermen's boats and watercraft of various kinds will participate in the mammoth pageant in San Diego Bay on June 29. It will be the largest and most colorful water spectacle ever staged in American waters and one of the major features of the California International Exposition.

Plans for this gigantic water carnival are rapidly nearing completion. It is known that the American Navy will be concentrated in exposition waters the latter part of June and that dispersal of the combined fleets begins about July 1. Hence it is planned to have the greatest assemblage of fighting and commercial ships, on the last Saturday of June, ever assembled.

Four yacht clubs of San Diego will participate, according to Staff Commodore Roy E. Hegg, who is devoting much of his time to this Exposition feature. They are the Coronado, South Western, San Diego and Mission Bay clubs. At least 200 boats under sail or power will be put into the big exposition water pageant by these four clubs.

Portuguese fishermen will contribute 300 or more boats to the spectacle and United States Navy will have at least 130 battleships, cruisers, destroyers, submarines, tenders and transports in the lineup of the mammoth sea spectacle.

With 200 searchlights playing on the face of the sea at night, the beautiful bay that sleeps at the feet of America's Exposition—1935 will be a sight never to be forgotten. One hundred thousand visitors is regarded as a conservative estimate of the crowd that will want to view this incomparable spectacle.

The exposition management is congratulating itself on the fact that the navy itself will manage and direct the huge water pageant. This gives assurances that everything will move like clockwork and that there will be no confusion or mixups.

SPONSOR PLAY FOR TOWNSEND PLAN

The Townsend Plan State Headquarters Club will present the play "Happy Pension Day," by Jessie Ross De River, with a professional cast, on the two dates, Monday, March 4 and Friday, March 8, 8 p. m. at 525 Sutter street, San Francisco.

This play dramatizes the Townsend Plan and is open to the public.

Attend Legion Ball

Mr. Fred Peterson of Frankfort street, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Green of San Diego avenue motored to San Francisco, Friday of last week, where they witnessed the Washington Birthday parade. In the evening the group attended the grand ball given by the American Legion in the Civic Auditorium.

IMPROVEMENTS WILL PROVE AID TO EMPLOYMENT

For Nominal Amount Many Daly City Betterments Would Be Possible

The newly organized Daly City Recreation and Improvement Club met, Tuesday evening, to hear a report of its advisory committee.

Great interest was shown by those present, all projects submitted being thoroughly discussed. Many valuable suggestions were made by members.

After thorough consideration, the decision was reached to send out a questionnaire outlining the proposed program, as follows:

(1) A Community Center Building: Remodel Vista Grande School Building for use as a Community Center. A meeting place for Boy Scouts, the various P. T. A. Units, Improvement Clubs, Daly City Band and other civic and patriotic organizations.

(2) Addition to the Library: Build an addition to our city library with floor space about double that of the present building.

(3) Development and Improvement of the Daly City Park: Install baseball grounds, comfort stations, drainage system, seats, tennis courts and other improvements.

(4) Erection of Commodious Auditorium in the Daly City Park: Purchase old Jefferson School Building, following the completion of the new school. Wreck building, transport material to park and erect large new auditorium.

(5) New Modern Fireproof Jail: Build a new fireproof jail on ground now owned by city in rear of City Hall.

(6) Modernize Fire Houses: Remodel and improve Fire Stations Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5.

(7) Modernization of City Hall: Change architecture and rearrange interior to provide room for various offices, court, etc.

(8) Improvements in Colma Section of Our City: Instll along Mission street, from School street to Market street, a 8 inch water main. Install on Pedro avenue a 6 inch water main to serve that district for any future development and for fire fighting purposes. Also install a fire alarm system.

It was explained that the cost to the average home owner would be about $1.00 per year for a period of ten years for carrying out these improvements.

It was also said this program will provide much work for unemployed men of our city.

It was decided to hold a mass meeting in the Daly City Auditorium on Tuesday evening, March 5. Speakers thoroughly conversant with the proposed program will be present and will thoroughly explain in detail all matters pertaining to the project.

All citizens are urged to be there.

Married In Daly City

Mr. Ferrand Stagg and Eleanor Mason, both of San Francisco, were united in marriage last Thursday by Judge Wade H. Clay at his home on Guadalupe avenue in Daly City at 6 o'clock in the evening.

HIGH TRIBUNAL EDICT SOURS NON-LIBERALS

By J. W. MARCHBANK
Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

While the die-hards are tearing their hair on account of the sagacious gold decree of the United States Supreme Court, events are shaping themselves in such a way that the belief is steadily growing stronger that we will soon be out of the slough of the depression. A shining example of the opponents of the New Deal is Lewis Haney, who is described in his newspaper articles as "Professor of Economics, New York University." In a San Francisco evening paper the other day Haney got this off his chest:

"The Supreme Court's 'decision' is out of the way. That is about the size of it. Now the people will conclude that there is nothing that can stop the New Dealers' money schemes and that, therefore, inflationary policies may proceed."

In the same sweet temper the professor says of the modern, up-to-date, liberal members of the nation's highest tribunal:

"The argument of the majority of the court is confused and marked by a laborious attempt to drag in citations of all sorts to prove the power of Congress."

The President, Congress, and undoubtedly the vast majority of the people of the country determined on heroic measures to restore the ship of state to an even keel. The Haneys apparently would have allowed it to go on the rocks without making one move to save it.

Another critic that appears to be out of step in the twentieth century way of doing things recently took a slam at the proposed International Highway. We read in the Alaska Weekly that Clive Planta, a member of the British Columbia Legislative Assembly, set a new all time record for stupid reasoning when he protested against allowing the United States to build the highway across Canadian soil on the grounds that such a highway would be of such strategic value to the United States that it could only be accepted as evidence of an alliance between the two countries.

In commenting on the outburst, the weekly says:

"Needless to point out, his opinion is not held by numerous British Columbians of prominence, most of whom are heartily in favor of the highway construction and deplore the financial difficulty which appears to prevent the whole-hearted co-operation of the Province.

"There is no place in the relationship of Canada and the United States for gringoism nor for anything other than the recognition of the fact that the two English-speaking races which inhabit the North American continent should work hand in hand for the development of the empire they possess.

"In the American suggestion that we advance the money for the building of the Canadian portion of the highway there was no ulterior motive. When it is built, as it will be, it will be found not to have cost British Columbia a cent so far as that is concerned, neither will it have cost the United States a nickel. Rather it will have returned millions in profit to both before it has been opened ten years."

A little more on the value of airplane transportation, which we have written up a number of times. An old timer by the name of Herman Gentsch was recently quoted as saying that with the plane facilities now available a prospector can jump out and land an outfit on his ground in less hours than it used to take weeks to do it, and that is causing a lot of ground to be developed. As he succinctly remarks, planes have worked wonders with Alaska.

EXPO RECEIVES APPROPRIATION OF FEDERAL AID

Sera Funds Available For Erection Of California State Building

Officials of the California Pacific International Exposition at the local headquarters in the Palace Hotel are jubilant over receipt of a telegram from United States Senator William G. McAdoo saying that the bill asking for an appropriation for $350,000 for federal participation in the exposition had passed the senate.

This followed the announcement earlier in the week, of the appropriation of $90,000 of SERA funds for the construction of a California State Building at the exposition, opening in San Diego on May 29.

"With a wide representation of the nations of the world at the exposition, it is fitting that the federal government and the state itself should be represented," said a statement.

The California building will provide exhibit space free of charge to the fifty-seven counties. According to announcement of Governor Merriam who officially broke ground for the building this week, the state is to have an impressive exhibit in the same building.

DANCE ARTISTS STARRED IN FILM

Many motion picture casts have boasted peers—even a duke or so—but RKO-Radio goes them all two better in co-starring a king and queen in the current musical comedy, "The Gay Divorcee," at the Daly City Theater, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, March 3, 4 and 5.

Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, the stars, were recently crowned, by public acclaim, as the "King and Queen of Carioca" because of their interpretation of the fiery, exciting dance in "Flying Down to Rio."

In "The Gay Divorcee" the great terpsichorean pair present two grand new dances, one called "Day and Night," originated by Astaire, and called "the dance of the moods"; another, the hit of the show, called "The Continental."

The play, a brisk and rollicking comedy built around a 100-mile-an-hour romance involving Astaire, Miss Rogers, Alice Brady and Edward Everett Horton, was adapted for the screen from the stay play, which ran a full season in New York and another six months in London, starring Astaire.

Wednesday night is China Night.

EXPENDITURES SOURCE OF CLASH IN COUNTY BOARD

Appropriation Of Funds For Automobiles And Help Questioned By District Attorney Ferrell

A clash occurred at Monday's session of the Board of Supervisors over the request of County Executive Kellogg for transfer of $3040 from the unbudgeted reserve funds for various purposes.

Kellogg asked for $1200 for an automobile for the county coroner; $540 for expenses of a court room in Daly City for Judge Wade H. Clay's justice court and an assistant therefor; $250 for convention and other expenses of the county executive, and $400 for an assistant for Purchasing Agent Stanley Kelly's office.

When the requests were read, District Attorney Ferrell declared:

"I want this matter referred to me for investigation. We have to begin to draw the line somewhere on expensive county automobiles. The district attorney and a lot of other officials have to run around the county in their own cars."

"It seems strange," countered Supervisor Al Witt, "that some requests come through the district attorney's

EIGHTH OF ALL TAXES PAID BY AUTO OWNERS

Increase In Upkeep Expense Increased Four Times In Past Fifteen Years

Motor car owners now pay one out of every eight tax dollars collected in the United States by federal, state and local governments.

Presenting facts and figures to support this assertion, a statement by the California State Automobile Association declares that "the amount of taxes paid by automobile owners provides a story which turns the scales heavily against proposals to increase the motoring tax burden, either through diversion of gasoline tax money."

The total of motor vehicle owner taxes in the United States in 1933, the last year for which complete figures are available, was $1,137,872,000, the statement sets forth.

State gasoline taxes totalled $518,195,712; registration fees, $301,932,039; federal excise taxes, including federal gasoline tax, $247,744,425; personal property and municipal taxes $70,000,000.

Average annual state registration fees and gasoline taxes paid per car increased from $8.68 in 1919 to $34.42 in 1933.

The combined rate of state and federal taxation on gasoline, ranging from 3 cents per gallon in some states to 8 cents in others, amounts to an average of 5.14 cents per gallon.

The average car during a life period of seven years yields taxes amounting to 223 per cent of its average value.

In the period 1921-1930 motor vehicle taxes increased 435 per cent, compared with an increase of 153 per cent in registration and 59 per cent in expenditures on state highways and local roads and streets.

"Back of the ever ready tendency to single out the motorist to pay more than his share of the common tax burden is the obselete notion that the automobile still is a luxury," the automobile association statement continues. "One has only to look around him to realize that such a notion is not based on fact. The automobile is a necessity to modern life and must not be taxed back into the luxury class."

LEGION AUXILIARY DALY CITY UNIT

(Catherine Foreman, Pub. Chairman)

On February 22, Washington's Birthday, the San Mateo County Council Drill Team participated in the fete celebration by parading and escorting the department commanders and presidents to their box in the evening.

Our district president, Catherine Foreman, attended a theater party at the Alcazar as a member of the Washington fete executive committee on Tuesday of this week.

On Wednesday of this week our post invited the unit to participate in a party for our Junior Auxiliary, and each of the Junior girls received a Victory pin from Commander Ed Trier. Refreshments were served after the meeting and all voted it a most successful evening.

Wednesday afternoon the following members met at the home of Catherine Foreman to sew for the hospital at Fort Wiley: Margaret Miller, Gladys Riordan, Ethel Whitney, Grace Tallmadge and Julia Jordan.

Our regular meetings for March are on March 6 and 20. On March 5 we again go to hospital at Fort Wiley for our usual monthly party and don't forget, girls. The post members are also cordially invited.

The unit held a most successful board meeting Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

March is our birthday month. Daly City Unit No. 410 will be four years old and we are proud of the work our Auxiliary has accomplished in that time.

The following sisters served our unit as presidents for the terms of office as given: Catherine Foreman, our first president, served from March to October, 1931; Julia Jordan, October, 1931, to October, 1932; Margaret Kenney, October, 1932, to October, 1933; June Craft, October, 1933, to October, 1934. Marie Trier is our present president.

Honored At Supper

Last Tuesday evening Mrs. Gertrude La Fortune entertained at her home on Carl street in San Francisco, honoring Miss Tessie O'Connor.

After an enjoyable evening, the guests adjourned to the dinner room, where a dainty supper was served, the table being artistically decorated for the occasion.

Those attending were Mrs. Lorraine Wall and Misses Tal Taribori, Tessie O'Connor, Sally Harmola, Audrey Diamond and Marge O'Connor.

WOMAN'S CLUB IN COSTUME PARTY

The Daly City Woman's Civic Club held a costume party at the clubhouse of the Ladies Home Club of Colma on Werner street, Thursday evening of last week.

The clubrooms and table were prettily decorated with balloons, small flags and hatchets, in honor of Washington's birthday.

There were many clever and original characters impersonated, among them being Old Black Joe, Martha Washington, Floradora Girl, Mae West, Gypsy Fortune Teller, Mary Jane Girls, Professor, Golfer, Negro Mammy and many others. Several prizes were awarded.

Everyone present was required to put on a little stunt, which added to the success of the evening.

A beautiful picture of President Roosevelt was presented to the Ladies Home Club by the women for the kindness in allowing them to use clubhouse.

At a late hour dainty refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

"I am going to say which are all right and which are not, just the same," retorted Ferrell.

Supervisors Poole and Witt declined to serve on a committee to investigate the necessity for an extra clerk in the purchasing agent's office.

District Attorney Ferrell blocked the request of Kellogg to pay Mrs. Theresa Altieri $300 salary from January 7 to March 8, when her services are scheduled to terminate. "There is a serious question as to whether this can be paid," the district attorney declared.

Confirmation of the new recreation commission, under consideration for th third time, was continued another week for "definite settlement."

The district attorney gave an official opinion that the two year contract previously awarded the United States Laundry for county laundry work would have to be rescinded, and the work let out to competitive bidding for one year.

Copies of the Peninsula League of Women Voters' letter urging retention of capable county employes were ordered sent to all department heads on motion of Supervisor Witt.

A $3492 SERA project for painting elementary schools in San Mateo was approved.

LADIES HOME CLUB HAS WHIST PARTY

On Tuesday afternoon the Ladies Home Club held their regular whist party in the club house on Werner avenue. Those attending were: Mesdames A. Harrison, T. Callan, A. Spellman, E. Beneditti, H. Siemond, S. Junker, F. Junker, M. Elmers, L. Jost, J. Sturla, A. Silicani, I. Benassini, Dora Morton, M. Fellman, C. Camenzind, E. Twesten, M. Crane, J. Dennis, V. Guerrero, G. Oakes, A. Lagarmarsino, E. Mendelson, J. T. Casey, M. Conserva, T. Bocci, L. Atkinsen, M. Davies, A. Schumacher, J. Volkmann, M. May, C. Wight, D. Fellman, R. Smith, L. Siemond, C. Clay, R. Savage, E. Stone, M. Cole and W. H. Clay.

The afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Julia Green and Mrs. Grady. The party was a great success and those present expressed pleasure in having attended.

Mrs. Elmers and Mrs. Twesten were chairmen for the day at the party last week at Marin Dell Dairy.

The next regular meeting for business will be held on Tuesday, March 12, at 2 p. m. in the club house with the president, Mrs. W. H. Clay, in the chair.

DALY CITY KNIGHTS TO GREET SUPERIOR

Headed by Grand Knight Nicholas Sanbrailo of Daly City Council No. 2712, local Knights of Columbus are to take an active part in the forthcoming Mobilization for Catholic Action campaign, under the auspices of the K. of C. supreme council, with 2500 subordinate councils of the order in the United States and Canada participating.

Plans for the immediate and vigorous organization of the Catholic man power of North America in the movement, as announced by Supreme Knight Martin H. Carmody of Grand Rapids, Mich., are being carried into California this week, under the direction of State Deputy William T. Sweigert of San Francisco, according to announcement by leaders of the order in the California jurisdiction.

Daly City Council will be represented by a large delegation at a rally meeting honoring Supreme Knight Martin H. Carmody, next Tuesday evening in the Knights of Columbus Hall, 150 Golden Gate avenue, San Francisco.

BERNHARDT HAD GREAT CAREER

Toured America On Several Occasions And Accorded Ovation Each Time

(By Maude Larue Ives)

Rosine Bernhardt, known as Sarah, one of the world's greatest actresses, through sixty years of almost uninterrupted work retained, unimpaired, her vitality and her artistic gifts. The impression that her art made on people was expressed in the name so frequently applied to her—"the Divine Sarah."

She was born in Paris and, though of Jewish descent, was baptized with Christian rites, in accordance with her father's wish, and spent the early years of her life in a convent. At the Paris Conservatory, where she studied from 1858 to 1862, she won second prizes for tragedy and comedy, but her first appearance on the stage in 1862, in a small part in Racine's "Iphigenia," was in no way exceptional. After an unsuccessful trial of burlesque, she turned to serious parts. As Cordelia in "King Lear," as the queen in Hugo's "Ruy Blas," and as Zanetto in "The Passer By," it was conveyed to the theatrical world that a new actress of rare promise had appeared.

Joining the company at the French Comedy Theater in 1872, she achieved a series of triumphs, one of her most remarkable performance being the role of Dona Sol in Hugo's "Herani." In 1879, she acted with great success at the London Gaiety Theater. On her return to Paris, she suddenly terminated an engagement with the management of the French Comedy Theater, a breach of contract which cost her $20,000. During 1880 and 1881 she toured Denmark, Russia and America, including in her repertoire the famous "Camille" of Dumas. In 1882, in London she married a Greek actor, Jacques Damala, from whom she was separated a year later. Her next appearances were in a number of plays by Sardou, who wrote for her especial use"Theodora," "La Tosca" and "Cleopatra."

Bernhardt's first American tour began in 1880, and she was everywhere received with great enthusiasm. Between 1891 and 1893 she dvisite North and South America, Australia and the chief countries of Europe, and on her return to Paris in 1893 she became manager of the Theater of the Renaissance. Five years later she established the Sarah Bernhardt Theater, of which she retained management up to the day of her death, in March, 1923. She revisited America in 1900, 1911 and 1913. During the American engagement of 1913 she suffered from an accident which later developed into blood poisoning and the amputation of a leg became necessary in February 1915. She learned to walk on an artificial leg, and resolutely returned to activity, in spite of advancing years. In 1914 she appeared in a moving picture production of "Queen Elizabeth," which she said gave her great joy because it would make her live a thousand years.

In October, 1916, this great actress returned to the United States to appear during the following winter in the principal cities. She was accorded the greatest reception which ever marked her American experiences.

Her services to America have been aptly summarized by a writer in these words:

"Of French literature we knew nothing. She opened that great treasure house to us. She made living realities of great dramatists and created an intellectual sympathy between France and America.

A number of peculiar mannerisms and oddities were associated with her acting, but these gave her individuality without detracting from the flawlessness of her art.

PRETTY GOOD AVERAGE

The highest paid woman postmaster in the United States is Nellie G. Donohue of Oakland, Calif., whose salary is $7000 a year. Next follow Helen C. Donahue of Portland, Me., $6000; Ellen J. Herdeman, Jackson, Miss., $4200, and Mrs. Floyd Cooper, Amarillo, Tex., $4000. One out of every 20 postmasters is a woman.

NEWEST MARKET OPEN TOMORROW

Tomorrow (Saturday) probably the finest food emporium ever to locate in Daly City will begin to purvey edibles to the people of Daly City.

At 8 o'clock the new and modern building reconstructed on the old site will be thrown open to the public for business. The place will be known as Milo's Market and will house grocery, fruit and vegetable, fish and poultry and meat departments, each carrying the highest quality of goods in its line.

The building, both interior and exterior, is a work of art and stands forth as an example of business acumen and progress.

The outside, across the front of the building, is adorned with the most attractive electric sign ever to be erected on a business establishment in this city, and one of which all citizens may well feel proud.

The spirit of progress displayed by the owners in building and equipping of such a high class establishment is one that might well be emulated by others.

Birthday Party For Son

Billie Kling, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kling of Templeton avenue, entertained a group of his friends, Saturday, celebrating his seventh birthday.

The afternoon was spent in playing games, after which dainty refreshments were served.

Those present were: Anna May, Santina Piazza, Josephine Piazza, Dorothy Peterson, June Peterson, Alice Marie Marchinni, Billy Fischer, Jackie Kelly, Neal Smith, Ramon Hollingsworth, David Kling, Jack Condon, Bruce Vance, Sonnyboy Peterson, and Richard Kronche.

C. D. A. Choose Delegates

The local court of Catholic Daughters of America enjoyed a costume party at their regular meeting last Wednesday evening. The date for the next banquet at an Italian restaurant in San Francisco was set for Tuesday evening next.

At the close of a bisk business meeting a delicious Spanish supper was enjoyed by all present.

Vice Grand Regent Helen Rode and Grand Regent Elizabeth Wettstein were chosen to represent the court at a district meeting held in Oakland last Saturday.

DON'T GET UP NIGHTS

MAKE THIS 25c TEST

Use Juniper oil, Buchu leaves, etc., to flush out excess acids and waste matter. Get rid of bladder irritation that causes waking up, frequent desire scanty flow, burning and backache. Get Juniper oil, Buchu leaves, etc., in little green tablets called Bukets, the bladder laxative. In four days if not pleased go back and get your 25c. Get your regular sleep and feel "full of pep." McGraw's Pharmacy, 6300 Mission Street.

VETERAN FIREMEN MEET TONIGHT

All veterans should be present, as there are important matters to consider. You should come and get acquainted with your comrades; there might be some new faces you have not seen for some time.

Don't forget the uniform rank, which meets every second Thursday of the month.

Honored By Bridal Shower

Mrs. Martin Christian and Mrs. Gladyse Christian gave a miscellaneous bridal shower, last Thursday evening, in the Christian home on Acton street, in honor of Miss Louise Winant, of 1330 Felton avenue, San Francisco.

The Christian home was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being carried out in pink, green and silver.

The bride to be received many lovely and useful gifts.

ROD AND GUN CLUB HAS INITIATION

The Daly City Rod and Gun Club will meet in Eagles' Hall tonight, Friday, in regular session.

A large class of candidates will be initiated. The floor work will be put on by the Pacific Rod and Gun Club degree team.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting and a general good time is promised.

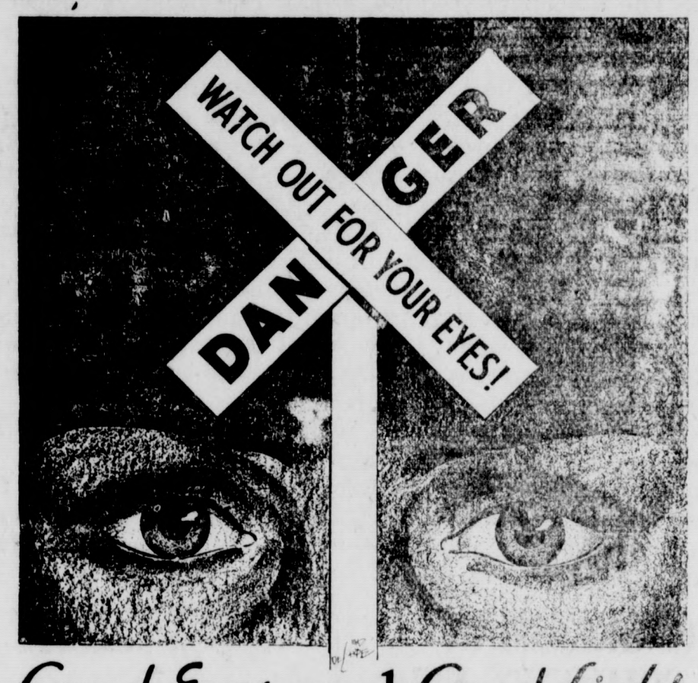

Visit Hamilton Field

Mr. and Mrs. George Riddell and daughter, Miss Sybil, of Templeton avenue and Ralph Riches of Irvington street motored to San Rafael, Friday of last week where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKee. Later the group motored to Hamilton Field and Boyes Springs. In the evening they were the dinner guests of Mrs. Florence Meyers at the Snider ranch in Sonoma.

Sport New Uniforms

Wednesday evening the floor staff of the Daly City Theater appeared in natty new uniforms.

These uniforms are a of beautiful blue and gray material with white belts and white shoulder straps along military lines. They are an excellent addition to the popular service staff of our own theater and are conceded to be the most attractive of any in the bay district.

Good Eyes need Good Light
Impaired Sight demands it

GOOD EYES are a very precious possession. Of all the senses—seeing is the very last thing anyone would wish to damage.

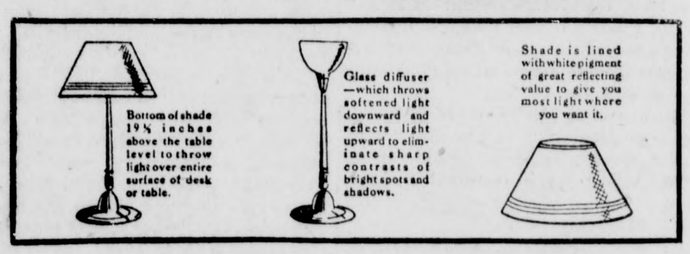

Once damaged, eyes can never be repaired or replaced. We can only help them by wearing glasses prescribed by an eye specialist. But even then, the best of glasses cannot completely restore the full healthy vision of eyes damaged by abuse.

Most good eyesight becomes poor eyesight because good eyes are abused by straining to see in bad light.

It is so easy today to have good lighting. Electricity is plentiful and low in cost. And modern lamps are scientifically designed to give proper diffusion of light without harmful glare.

Below is pictured a lamp of scientifically correct design. Note its modern features. Compare it with the lamps you are using in your home. You should have at least one of these lamps in your living room and on the children's study table.

World's Oldest Fossil Egg Found in America

Credit for producing the world's oldest fossil egg, which until recently has been accorded Asia because of a one-hundred-million-year-old dinosaur egg found in the Gobi desert, has been transferred to America with the discovery of a fossil egg believed to be about two hundred and twenty-five million years old, in the Permian Red Beds of North Central Texas. The find was made by members of an expedition from the Harvard University Museum of Comparative Zoology led by Theodore White and Llewellyn Price, and is now on display in the museum.

The unhatched egg, which has been preserved with little distortion, though it shows a few slight cracks, is about three inches long and rusty in coloring. Scientists are not sure what manner of creature was responsible for it, but it is believed to have been laid by a large lizard like animal known as ophiacodan. A partial skeleton of one of these creatures has been found in the region in which the egg was discovered. It has a disproportionately large head and short limbs, and measures about six feet from snout to tip of tail.

A 250-ton mill is being installed at the Golden Queen Mine, while a crew of 30 men are getting the mine in shape for operations. The Golden Queen is where the recent Mojave gold strike was made.

The crack pistol team of the Los Angeles County sheriff's office now claims the world team shooting record held by the Pennsylvania state police. Recently the California unit, headed by Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz, scored 1478 out of a possible 1500 points. The Pennsylvanians' record is 1474.

Twenty-five hundred baby trout, the first hatch of the season, are already old enough to enjoy a meal of ground liver. They were born at Threerivers, Tulare County. Other hatchings are planned for the spring and early summer. Over 1,000,000 fry are to be turned out this season, promising sport for fishermen.

U. S. customs guards recently smashed a San Francisco-Los Angeles dope ring when they arrested four men and confiscated $15,000 worth of opium. Forty-four tins of opium were taken from the Dollar liner President Hoover as she docked at San Pedro. Two of the quartet arrested were members of her crew.

Development of mining properties, marginal farm land, forests and watersheds by convict labor, has been advocated by Julian Alco, acting San Quentin Prison warden. This would eliminate over-crowding in prisons, rehabilitate the prisoners and save the state money. Each development would be self-supporting.

Spring is here! Evidences of it may be found all over the state and particularly in the Kern County desert between Bakersfield and the Ridge Route. Here a carpet of wild flowers stretches across the wide valley, a carpet which glows with vast jagged patches of reds, blues and yellows. An average of 15,000 persons every weekend are trekking to see this sight.

Many Berkeley women who have confined their driving to the back seat or who are inexperienced motorists have joined a closs, given under the auspices of the Berkeley Traffic Safety Commission, where they will learn to become expert feminine motorists. After an eight-week session of attending lectures given by automotive experts, a drivers' competition will be held and prizes awarded.

The West's answer to the challenge of crime will be taken up at a Sacramento conference March 18-19. Governor Merriam has invited the governors of Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Utah, Colorado, Wyoming Idaho and Montana to meet with him then and organize against crime. The conference will seek interstate pacts to do away with criminal apprehension red tape.

After ten years work the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey has finished mapping the Pacific Coast from Mexico to Canada. For the first time accurate survey maps of Pacific islands off the shore of California have been made. Special attention was given to San Miguel Island, in the Santa Barbara channel, where the U. S. Navy is thinking of building an airplane landing field.

The city of many trees, Pasadena, will be the meeting place of the Western Shade Tree Conference, opening their annual convention March 7. The purpose of the organization is to stimulate interest and activity in a field which is little considered today. The group's secretary declared that western cities have fallen far behind the East in the planting of street shade trees.

Two representatives of the State Federation of Labor and a federation attorney have gone to Jackson to advise Amador County miners as to their conduct in the five-month old strike there. Meanwhile "peaceful picketing" continued along the mining front. "The strike is not broken and I am confident it will not be," declared Edward Vandeleur, state labor federation head.

Discussing the tax situation in a recent state-wide radio broadcast Governor Frank Merriam declared, "The cry against high taxes is raised on every hand, but in a large degree, the people themselves have endorsed a program of increasing governmental activities." The "huge sum" of proposed increased revenue does not represent any marked increase in the cost of state government, according to the governor, but rather was made necessary by such measures as the Riley-Stewart plan, approved by the people, which turns former state revenue over to the counties.

Chic Worsted for Suit and Ensemble

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WHEN it comes to topnotch swank, audacious color schemes and versatile weaves the new worsteds which go to make up the spring suits and ensembles have arrived at a dramatic moment in their career.

It is nothing uncommon in the advance spring styles parade for an ensemble to be fashioned of a skirt of one woolen, a blouse of another with the jacket, coatee or long coat still another type and color. Yet in the final analysis the entire outfit will have correlated into a perfect unit of highest artistry.

The call of the immediate mode is for the suave and slim fitted tailored suit which has a related topcoat of heavier wool to go with it. The ensemble to the left in the picture is typical of the new suit-with-topcoat movement. The skirt and jacket is of light oxford gray wool, with a long top raglan of two-tone stripe novelty woolen. Later this topcoat can be worn as a separate wrap with other dresses.

Centered in the group is a two-piece tailleur with button trim from neck to hem with a brown oxford topcoat held in readiness, its color being complementary to the brown and white check of the suit. As to checks and stripes and plaids they are all the rage in every conceivable mood of color and weave.

To the right is an early spring arrival—a coat made of a "nifty" new woolen of intriguing novelty. The check is achieved via a shaggy surfaced cord on a navy blue background. Navy, by the way, is at the top of the list of important colors for spring. Buttons above the waistline as employed in the fastening of this coat and the unusually wide belt are also featured details in the incoming fashions. The wide collar is of navy woolen which is quilted in wide welts. Volumes could be written about the new quilted, stitched and shirred effects which embellish dresses, coats, hats and everything in sight which is quiltable, stitchable or shirrable.

The new "companion woolens" brought out this season provide endless opportunity to designers to work out striking and original fashions. A laceweave tweed for the suit with a lacier lighter weight wool for the blouse done in overchecks of white, the ground color matching the color of the suit material gives some faint idea of the handsome combinations in store for fashion's followers this season.

Another model consists of a fitted suit in cinnamon brown wool with a loose topcoat in the same woolen which is striped in white. Then again a light and soft texture suiting in diagonal weave is apt to have a companion woolen in interesting plaided patterning which introduces bright colors and it is even possible to detect an interweaving of gold or silver metal threads.

Rustic weaves in coatings are high style for sportswear, such as a basket weave check in soft spongy texture, one color running one way and a contrasting shade running the other, also handknit and carpet-weave effects which are colorful and sturdy in appearance.

TORTOISE SHELL

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

MUST HAVE VELVET TOUCH TO ENSEMBLE

Even if you don't want to wear a velvet frock or suit this year, there should be a touch of velvet about you if you are to be truly smart and luxurious looking.

A turban of velvet ribbon done with intricate twists and drapings is always good when worn by the picturesque or exotic type. The fall Russian hats of sleek velvet also are good, as are the pill-box hats with rhinestone ornaments and flirtatious veil. These are nice to nestle in huge, upstanding fur coat collars.

Then, too, there are afternoon bags of velvet, many of them shirred and trimmed with rhinestone or mirror ornaments.

Though Clothes Are Very Chic, They Are Practical

Clothes are ever so smart this season, but at no time have the designers lost sight of the practical. Thus we have tunics that are strikingly elaborate, yet they will give new life to an old evening frock, or a long, slim skirt. These tunics come in beautiful fabric, sometimes they are rhinestone studded or else they have bands of spangles. One beautiful model that we saw was of heaviest lame in silver and green. The very draped neck was caught in front with a jeweled ornament, and bracelets caught the loose sleeves into tight cuffs. This could go over an evening dress to make a lovely outfit.

Frothiness

Net dresses, sometimes complemented by capes, all are marked by extreme frothiness about the neck, shoulders and hem lines. Black, turquoise, pink, brown and peach are the favorite colors in order of their popularity.

Sport Sweaters

The smartest of sports sweaters show a decided English influence in their conformation to more or less simple and classic styles, softest yarns and unusual pastel off-tones.

Winter Slumber Time for Trees and Plants

The trees go to sleep for the winter. All the perennial plants take their long rest. Almost the only thing that continues to grow is the winter wheat. Give that a day or two of sunshine and it sends forth new sprouts. And the dandelion, even in the midst of winter, needs but a bit of encouragement to open its buds.

Not until late February does the sap begin to flow and the trees awake from their slumber. It is marvelous how they accommodate themselves to the vicissitudes of our climate. But more marvelous is how the birds who do not go south for the winter manage to live. All of them find shelters where, in the extremity of weather, they seek refuge and with inexhaustible vitality wear out the storm.

In heavy snow the quail will huddle together under a pile of brush and be warm and comfortable. The cardinals love thick shrubbery or matted vines. The squirrels find safe homes in the hollows of the trees, which they often share with the little hoot owls. The rabbits go abroad at all seasons. The summer traveler in the far north can tell the depth of the snow the previous winter by observing the height at which the rabbits have nibbled off the tops of the young trees. The tiny field mice in their burrows manage nicely, but they have taken kindly to the ways of civilization, and when the first frosts come they swarm into the farmers' barns and stables. All of them, without exception, birds and beasts, put on a heavier coating for the winter.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

REVISION AUTO CODE ADOPTION EXPECTED SOON

Measure Systematizing And Simplifying Rules Has Been Approved

Approved by the Assembly in the first half of the legislative session, the proposed Vehicle Code which systematizes and simplifies rules and language in the California Vehicle Act is expected to be adopted early in the second session starting March 4.

The bill will make driving laws easier to understand and their observance more widespread, in the opinion of a statewide motor vehicle conference group which has been working on the codification for the past two years. The measure is pending before the Senate Motor Vehicle Committee. It was introduced in the Assmbly by William B. Hornblower of San Francisco.

There was no basic change in the revised arrangement and the bill of itself should be accepted, it was said in a statement by the Legislative Bureau of the California State Automobile Association, which co-operated with the statewide conference group in working on the measure. The proposed code was drafted under supervision of the California Code Commission.

A number of proposed amendments to the vehicle laws have been introduced through other bills.

A problem of drunken driving has been given attention in an amendment proposed by the California Motor Vehicle Conference. It permits a drunken driving violation to be classed as a misdemeanor when no accident or injury is involved, in order to make punishment of offenders mode certain and to simplify procedure so that municipal courts may dispose of such cases.

In support of the amendment it is pointed out that juries have been reluctant to send drunken drivers to state prison on the felony charge unless serious consequences have resulted from the violation. The felony charge and state prison sentence if convicted would still apply to those who drive while intoxicated and cause damage, injury, or death.

With the same object of more certain punishment, another amendment would establish a new offense of "negligent homicide," with a lesser penalty than manslaughter in fatal traffic accidents. The provision would apply in cases where minor infractions of the vehicle law result in death.

LESSON SERMON OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"As ye have therefore received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in him: For in him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily." These words from Colossians comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, March 3, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scintist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Christ Jesus". Included among the Scriptural selections will be: "Then cried Jesus in the temple as he taught, saying, Ye both know me and ye know whence I am: and I am not come of myself, but he that sent me is true, whom ye know not. But I know him: for I am from him, and he hath sent me" (John 7: 28, 29).

The following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Schiptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included: "Jesus presented the ideal of God better than could any man whose origin was less spiritual. By his obedience to God, he demonstrated more spiritually than all others the Principle of being. . . . . We must go and do likewise, else we are not improving the great blessings which our Master worked and suffered to bestow upon us." (p. 25).

Cables Look Loose

A brake cable may only appear to be loose. Releasing the brake pedal does not always relieve pressure on the cable—especially if the brake rods, clevises and other parts have been denied oil for some time, states the director of roadside service, National Automobile Club.

VETERAN PROGAM OF AMERICANISM

(By Jas. H. Clifton, Pub. Chairman)

The Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States is an organization of veterans who have fought under the American flag "on foreign soil or in hostile waters." It is a permanent ogranization of citizens of this community and thousands of other communities, whose peace-time program is designed for service as devoted as was their armed defense of their country in its times of war. Our program comprises three principal purposes and activities—veteran rehabilitation, child welfare and Americanism.

"By Americanism" we mean "One country, one language and one flag." We also mean the development of a greater love for our country in the hearts and minds of all its citizns. Believing that the highest type of citizenship, patriotic loyalty and zeal must be achieved through knowledge, the V. F. W. has for one of its most important activities a department of Americanism which constantly seeks, by co-operation with schools, civic groups and similar agencies, to spread information and to interpret history.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States stands formly against the activities of agents from other countries who seek to foster agitation and dissatisfaction with our government. We have no quarrel with any nation, but we who have followed "Old Glory" on foreign soil and in hostile waters are convinced of the necessity for keeping forever safe those principals of government on which our nation is founded and for which our forefathers fought and died. We have no place in these United States for any organization which attempts to overthrow our form of government by force or violence.

Because of our love for our country; because we have served our country in the zone of battle, where we have witnessed the horrors of bloodshed, our Americanism embraces hatred of wars to a degree hard to understand by those who have not shared our experiences. We pray that this country may never again be forced to participate in another war. But we believe, we know, that an adequate national defense is our best, our only insurance against the possibility of future wars.

The Americanism program of the V. F. W. favors a national preparedness that will increase the strength of our armed forces to a degree of equality with the armed forces of any other country in the world. We advocate and demand a measure of military strength that will stand as a guarantee of safety and peace for those who are entitled to benefits of American citizenship.

There are hundreds of thousands of small white crosses in the cemeteries of this and other countries today which bear mute and tragic testimony to the undeniable fact that only by training, only by preparedness, only by building up a national defense which will impress and warn the ambitious and covetous nations of the world, can the United States of America avert another world war within the next generation, if not before.

Thousands of American boys gave their lives in France because they were thrust into battle untrained. It is a memory which make the advocacy of a large army, navy and marine corps one of the firm principals of the V. F. W. today.

Get Standard Bulbs

Improperly made headlight bulbs are causing considerable worry on the part of motor vehicle and traffic officials in these days of fixed focus headlights. A bulb made imprecisely as to the threading on the collar may create an entirely different and unsafe pattern of light than that called for by the law.

It is not a matter of buying the most expensive bulbs to play safe since some of the more costly ones are offenders, according to the director of roadside service of the National Automobile Club. A reliable trade mark is a guide.

SOME QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Some Little Known Matters That Should Prove of General Interest

(By Maude Larue Ives)

Question: What is the real name of the great actress, Julia Marlowe?

Answer: Sarah Frances Frost.

Question: Who was Li Hung Chang.

Answer: The "Grand Old Man of China," as he was called, lived between the years 1823 and 1901. To him is due much of his country's progress. He played the most prominent part in all of China's affairs for over forty years, representing his government and extending its foreign relations with great skill and wisdom. He held the highest official rank of any man in China next to the emperor—First Grand Secretary of State. He was born of people who were not of high rank. In the severe examinations which admit a man to the literary caste in China, he passed ahead of 15,000 competitors, but won his great renown in the service of the Tartar dynasty during the Taiping Rebellion. He received the Order of the Double Dragon, a distinction seldom conferred on any but a member of the royal family. He controlled all the pawnshops in China and was one of the richest Chinamen of his time.

* * *

Question: To what family does the lilac belong?

Answer: The Olive family.

* * *

Question: How are meal checks presented to customers in fashionable Japanese restaurants?

Answer: The waitress, bearing a handsome lacquer box, falls on her knees before the customer, and, bowing her head, presents him with the box, which contains the bill.

* * *

Question: What is a legacy?

Answer: A gift of property, especially personal property, by will. The law provides that the debts of a deceased man must be paid before legacies can be considered. Gifts of particular objects rank next after debts are paid. If the remainder of the estate is not sufficient to pay the general legacies, they are reduced in proportion to their amount.

Question: How did the mushroom receive its name?

Answer: As the home they choose is decaying vegetable matter—generally a log or a piece of rotting wood, usually hidden under leaves or moss—the French word for moss gives us the name "mushroom."

HAPPENINGS HERE ELEVEN YEARS AGO

Some Items Gleaned From Copies Of The Record Of a Decade Past

The Peninsula Chapter De Molay conferred the first degree on six candidates on Thursday evening, two of whom were Daly City boys.

Mrs. Jas. Bennett will be the soloist next Sunday evening at the Daly City M. E. church. Other music will include a selection by the male quartet and a special number by the choir.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Faulkner and son Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jaques and son spent Friday at Sutro Baths.

Plans for El Carmelo's fourteenth anniversary dance are being perfected by Chairman Erminia Biggio and her assistants. The event will take place in the Daly City Auditorium on Saturday evening, March 1. Music will be furnished by Dell's All-Star orchestra. Reserve March 1 for this event and enjoy a good time.

The next meeting of the Crocker-Pershing P. T. A. will be held jointly with the Woodrow Wilson - Vista Grande P. T. A. at the Woodrow Wilson school on Monday, March 3, at 2:30 p. m. The P. T. A.'s will be hostesses of the parents of Colma schools and members of the San Mateo County Federation. Refreshments will be served. Everybody invited.

Commemorating the fourteenth anniversary of their organization, the officers and members of El Carmelo Parlor No. 181, N. D. G. W., will enjoy a banquet at Mi Omo Grill on Tuesday evening, February 26, at 7 o'clock. Nothing will be omitted that could add to the enjoyment of a real feast, and a novelty program will be carried on during the affair. The "Natives" are looking forward to their birthday party with much enthusiasm.

Crossings Are Dangerous

All railroad crossings should be considered dangerous, whether guarded or not, says the public safety department of the National Automobile Club. Watchmen or gate operators may be off duty. Remember, it is much less difficult and less expensive for you to stop at a crossing than to cause a train to stop.

The way to play safe is to stop at all crossings. When there are two or more trucks, always wait until the passing train has gone sufficiently far for you to be sure that a train on another track is not approaching from the opposite direction.

PARTICIPATION URGED IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK

State President of P. T. A. Says All Citizens Should Take Part In Work

In a public address to the membership of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, totaling nearly 200,000, Mrs. Katherine M. Turner, state president of the congress, has urged participation of the organization in the sixteenth annual observance of Public Schools Week, beginning on April 6.

"Believing that the support of our public schools is an important function of our California Congress of Parents and Teachers," Mrs. Turner states, "and realizing that the development of an informed and alert public opinion is necessary to such support, I urge that our local groups participate in every effort to observe California Public Schools Week, April 8 to April 12, in order to bring the homes and the schools closer together in understanding so that we may achieve a unity of purpose and action calculated to guarantee the greatest possible educational advantages for our children."

Originally instituted to call public attention to the conditions of the schools due to loss of teaching personnel through war service the annual event has gradually become a community affair.

It was estimated by the state committee in charge that at last year's observance nearly one-fifth the total adult population of the state was represented in attendance either at public meetings in the various communities or in visits to schools.

Exhibits of the work of pupils in various schools will be a feature of the week this year.

UNITED STATES AND CANADA IN BIG GOLD RACE

Dominion Holds Continntal Lead—Philippine Islands Helping America

Sidney Norman writes under recent date in the Vancouver Sun:

Preliminary estimates of gold production of the United States, released by the U. S. Bureau of the Mint, show that the race between Canada and the United States for third position among producing nations of the world was exceedingly close in 1934 and suggests that Canada will have to travel fast this year if she is to hold her place next to Russia.

From Continental United States mines, 2,743,218 ounces, worth $95,977,600, was recovered, compared with 2,964,395 ounces, worth $102,242,000, from mines of Canada.

Thus, so far as the continent is concerned, Canada produced 221,177 ounces more than the United States, exceeding the latter's value by $6,264,400.

That, however, is not the whole story. Adding production of the Philippine Islands, a possession of the United States, the latter's total is swelled to 3,075,192 ounces, more than Canada produced, with value $5,389,700 greater.

U. S. Revival

These figures emphasize the tremendously increased United States interest in gold mining, largely attributed to the advanced value of the metal and to increased popular investment in such operations, due to the conviction that gold is one of the few safe "bets" in a world that seems upside down.

The important difference between the outputs of the two countries is that, whereas Canada's contribution is in due part to development of new mines, that of the United States is attributable to resuscitation of old producers and the contributions of thousnads of small placer operators, driven to that pursuit by the severity of the depression. The latter was very largely true in California in particular.

There was a remarkable increase in output from the Philippine Islands, largely derived from the Balatoc, richset mine per ton in the world, and its neighbor, Benquet. Production last year reached 332,974 ounces, worth $11,654,100, compared with 282,336 ounces in 1933, worth around $7,805,408.

California Leads

California, as usual, led the States with 709,963 ounces, worth $24,848,700, compared with 565,426 ounces, worth about $15,831,928, in 1933 and a low value of $8,526,703 in 1929.

The total production of California since Marshall's discovery back in 1848 now exceeds $2,000,000,000.

Alaska came second, with 460,000 ounces, worth $16,105,000, compared with 418,332 ounces in 1933.

Philippines came fourth with Colorado fifth, contributing 321,740 ounces, worth $11,260,900, compared with 249,581 ounces in 1933.

Arizona was sixth, with 145,234 ounces, worth $5,083,200, compared with 48,955 ounces in 1933, an increase of 300 percent.

Utah was seventh, with 137,943 ounces, worth $4,828,000, an increase of 39,959 ounces over production of 97,984 ounces in 1933.

The all-time high gold production in the United States was in 1915, with 4,887,604 ounces, worth $101,035,700, gold then selling at $20.67 an ounce.

In the same year, Canada's production was but $18,936,971, which was practically double the result in 1911, when but $9,762,100 was realized, with gold at $20.67 an ounce.

United States production last year, even adding the Philippine contribution, was no less than 1,812,412 ounces short of the record established in 1915.

Canada's Output Growing

On the other hand, since 1911, Canada's production has increased from $9,762,100 to $102,242,000, or over 1000 percent in twenty-three yers.

There is probability of continued increase in the United States for some years to come, assuming that the effects of the depression will be eradicated slowly.

A movement in California to reinstate hydraulic mining, practically eliminated by the Camenetti anti-debris law, is under way, and if successful, it is estimated that another two billion dollars can be recovered from that source alone.

As to Canada, there is not the slighest doubt that production will show consistent increase for many years to come. Gradually, the productive frontier line is being extended northerly. In the last ten years there has been annual increase with result that the output has risen approximately 100 percent.

MINING NOTES OF VARIOUS SECTIONS

Gus Peterson, pioneer mining man from Dawson and the Fairbanks districts of the North, is looking over a big hydraulic proposition in Central Idaho.

Mr. Peterson said, "As far as I could determine I believe I have a good proposition, but the snow and general weather conditions made it impossible to make a complete examination. I got satisfactory results from what little panning I was able to do, good enough to make me want to go in again and do some further testing, which I will look after next spring."

A new strike has been reported on the Dunwell property by L. S. Davidson, local manager in the North drift of the No. 3 level. While no figures as to the richness of the latest strike will be made public, it is generally accepted that the values are better than commercial and that native silver is plainly visible in the ore.

Indications are that milling equipment will be installed on the Little Giant mine on Mineral Creek early in spring and that a crew of 25 men will be employed there throughout the year. This prperty is being opened up and is controlled by Clarence Poy,who is also developing on the Big Four property located nearby. The Little Giant pay shoot lies in a highly mineralized structure imbedded in a formation of schistose with intrusions of slate and graywacke. It is very high grade in values and the management is convinced that the property will be a paying proposition with the milling of the first ton.

With a good crew of miners, Quinn and Riley are making fine progress on the tunnel at the Richfield-Cariboo property near Barkerville. After being closed down for some time, work was resumed when financing arrangements had been completed abroad. The contract was let to local hard rock men to extend the tunnel already well under way for an additional 600 feet, or what was deemed sufficient to reach the objective.

According to a report from Nelson, B. C., the metal output of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., at Trail in 1934 was the second largest in the history of the smelter. The value of the output is placed at $19,562,173. This is a gain of about 34 per cent over 1933, which was $14,594,439, and a 65 per cent gain over 1932, when the value was $11,832,177. Although the output is higher, lower prices prevailed for the smelter's chief base metals, lead and zinc.

Pilot Harold Gillam successfully landed a crankshaft for a diesel engine at the Nabesna mine. The piece of machinery weighed 1285 pounds and because of its length was bound underneath the fuselage of the plane. The pilot experienced no difficulty in getting this essential piece of equipment to the mine.

* * *

Public knowledge of platinum, say the experts, is mostly confined to jewelry, but it is believed in some quarters that with gold off the market the public might turn to the white metal as a means for hoarding wealth.

World consumption of platinum in 1934 was about 200,000 troy ounces, which, at $35 an ounce, amounts to only $7,000,000, a small amount compared with current gold s ocks.

* * *

Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines of Toronto, in its preliminary operating statement for the year ended December 31, shows a net profit of $6,446,752 before depreciation and surplus adjustment, which is equal to $1.31 a share on outstanding stock. During the year the company paid $1.40 a share in dividends, a part of which was obtained from surplus over dividends paid in the year immediately preceding.

Ventures, Limited, of which C. E. Boyle is president, reports that exploratory work carried out on Squaw Creek during 1934 season has had satisfactory results, coarse gold being found and a half-ounce nugget. The tests are being made preliminary to installation of hydraulicking equipment.

* * *

V. H. Wilson, in charge of the Culross mine, near Port Wells has gone outside to purchase a diesel, compressor and other equipment for the mine.

Excellent progress has been made at the property he reports. A large dock has been built and a crew of about twelve men have been busily engaged the past few monts driving tunnel and have many tons of ore blocked out which is being shipped to the smelter at Tacoma. The showings are very encouraging, Wilson stated.

Owing to water freezing and other minor difficulties, work at the mine has been suspended until Mr. Wilson returns with the new machinery.

CHRONICLES IN WIN OVER ROYCES

(By Al Gould)

In a slug feast last Friday afternoon, at the Seal Stadium, Manager Pfeifer's lads went to pieces and lost the opportunity to meet the Sunset Federals for the "Saturday League" championship.

Bates excelled at bat, collecting four bingles in five trips to the plate, while the brilliant base-running and fielding of Hughie Smith featured in that division.

Oil Idea Different

Car owners, it seems, are some years behind the engineer and the oil physicist in their thinking in connection with engine lubricants, according to the general service manager of the National Automobile Club.

The experts are light oil advocates this year; which is to say, as between a choice of two grades of oil generally meeting requirements, they lean toward the lighter one.

Contrary to the impression of the layman, the light oil is likely to last the longer and lubricate more effectively.

Muffler Affects Power

Mufflers have more to do with engine power than is realized by many car owners, remarks the director of roadside service, National Automobile Club.

A clogged muffler that prevents the ready exit of exhaust gases will build back pressure against the admission of new fuel to the engine cylinders. The starved engine, in such a case, cannot reasonably be expected to deliver the customary amount of power for a given throttle opening.

VIRDENS DEFEAT DALY CITY

(By Al Gould)

Walter Lister, pitching air-tight ball behind his teammates' errorless playing, brought defeat to the local nine last Sunday afternoon at the Harrison diamond.

The local boys erratic playing behind "Lefty" Smith, mound ace of Manager Martin, was the important factor in this defeat, as none of the runs gathered by the Virden team were earned.

For Quicker Starting

If the engine is sluggish in starting despite its apparently excellent tuning once in operation, have a look at the starter motor, states the director of roadside service of the National Automobile Club.

A loose contact in the switch or a dirty commutator will diminish the power of the starter to turn the engine over at that speed which assures easy starting.

CORK CURE

A young woman called at the house of a homeopathic doctor, and, after discussing on all the topics of the day, settled down to tell him of her ailments. Among other things, she said she was greatly alarmed by a "sinking feeling."

The doctor prepared a bottle of medicine and gave it to her, with directions as to how it should be taken. The woman began to talk, but at length, after many vain efforts on the doctor's part to get rid of her, she made for the door She had just opened it, when she turned and said, "Oh, doctor, what shall I do if the medicine does not cure me?"

"Take the cork," he retorted. "They tell me that cork is good for a sinking feeling.—London Tit Bits.

Cheap Liquid Hydrogen

A low-temperature laboratory has been devised in California, it is announced. Five quarts of liquid hydrogen will be made in an hour at a cost of $2 a quart.

The doctors say . . .

Use liquid treatment

Here is the soundest advice anyone can give on the subject of laxatives. It is based on medical opinion. We want you to have the benefit of this information no matter what laxative you may buy:

The secret of real relief from constipation is reduced dosage. You can't regulate the bowels unless you can regulate the help you give them. That is why doctors use a liquid laxative; the dose can be measured to a drop.

Avoid laxatives that you can't cut down in dosage; especially those that seem to require larger doses than when you began their use.

Under the doctor's care, you usually get a liquid laxative. The right liquid laxative gives the right kind of help, and the right amount of help. Smaller and smaller doses—until you don't need any.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara—natural laxatives that form no habit.

SYNOPSIS

Theodore Gatlin adopts a baby, "Penelope," in an effort to solve his matrimonial troubles. But his wife has never wanted her, and their affairs end in the divorce court. Ten-year-old Penelope is given into the keeping of Mrs. Gatlin. At a baseball game a ball strikes Penelope on the nose. Mrs. Gatlin spirits the child to Europe. Gatlin wills Penelope all his money, and is about to begin a search for her when a motor accident ends his life. Some ten years later, in San Francisco, Stephen Burt, rising young psychiatrist, is presented by Dan McNamara, chief of police, with a new patient—Nance Belden, a girl with a dual personality, for which her "saddle nose" is in part responsible. McNamara does not think she is a criminal and obtains Burt's testimony in court. Lanny, the doctor's office nurse, is also won over. Nance's criminal record outweighs Doctor Burt's explanation of her case and she is sent to San Quentin penitentiary. Lanny visits her and Nance persuades her to smuggle out a letter which a confederate of Nance steals. Nance escapes, although shot, and goes to Lanny's apartment. Lanny tells Chief McNamara, who orders her to bring Nance to his apartment. Details of Nance's escape are made public.

"Nance had no right to be there," the man protested to McNamara. "The poor kid's queer." He tapped his forehead. "But she framed a sweet getaway, if it would work, and we figured it might. So we thought we'd give the girl a hand. She's all right. I've got a blind brother that would have starved to death if it hadn't been for Nance Belden; as for the man the doctor's working over now, Nance took care of his wife while he was in the stir. Helped her when she had a baby. Chief, that girl's a saint. The only trouble with her is that she's a devil, too. You never know how to figure her."

"You've figured her right. She's queer. And what's your wounded friend been doing since he got out of stir? What did he get in for?"

"He got in for bootlegging and he's been bodyguard for a boss bootlegger since he got out."

"H-m-m-m! And what's your specialty?"

"I don't know what line I'll take up, Chief. I've only been out of the United States army disciplinary barracks on Alcatraz island a month. I was a soldier—and I poked an officer."

"Oh, you're the machine-gunner, eh? Learned to shoot in the army, I suppose?"

"If I hadn't, I'd have killed that guard. I could have gotten him if I cared to, but instead I scared him with overs and shorts. Did I sweep the roof of that lookout tower?"

"You certainly did—and rattled the man at the Browning gun there. Well, you're quite a fellow! What does your friend, the chauffeur, do?"

"Delivers bootleg. He took a chance for a friend."

"You may go," said Dan McNamara to the chauffeur. "Take your car and beat it. But I'll remember you and if you pull any rough stuff in this city I'll land you out in the grass. On your way."

The man fled promptly, and Dan turned to the ex-soldier. "I've got Nance out at my house," he explained. "Doctor Burt has fixed her up and I'm not going to turn her in. Neither am I going to turn her out, because she wouldn't be out two hours before she'd be picked up. That saddle nose of hers is a dead-give-away."

The man nodded lugubriously.

"We've got to find a quiet spot for your friend, too," the chief went on meditatively. "A man with three bullet holes in him is in an embarrassing fix—when he's wanted. So we'll take him out to my house, too. That's the only safe place I can think of."

"How about me?"

"You've been a soldier, so I suppose you can carry out orders?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, your orders are to come out to my house, too, and take care of your friends. The doctor will call every day and tell you what to do. And you'll have to do the cooking."

"I can do that, too. Not fancy, but they can eat it."

"All right, you've got a job and a holing-up place as well. I'll go home now and get my car and come back for you and your friend. Meanwhile don't you get cold feet and disappear. I want to talk to you some more. I want to find out all about Nance Belden, and you and your friend might be able to give a line on her."

"I don't know anything about her, Chief, except that her real name is Penelope Gatlin."

Dan McNamara clasped his corrugated brow in both hands and pondered. "Gatlin! Gatlin! Penelope Gatlin! Now, where have I run across that name in my business? I don't usually forget names, and I seem to remember I had a call once for somebody by that name or else somebody by that name called on me. It was a long time ago. I'll have to look that up—I wonder if there's anything in the files at headquarters."

It was midnight before Nance Belden's two friends were installed with her in Dan McNamara's house. Lanny looked both men over carefully and confided to the chief that she wouldn't trust either one of them as far as she could throw a bear by its tail, to which Mr. McNamara replied that one of them couldn't raise any deviltry if he wanted to, while the other dared not. Moreover, this latter was the only practical nurse he could secure. A trained nurse might talk; on the other hand this friend of Nance's had been educated to keep his mouth shut. "And a very great virtue," McNamara added. "His freedom is in my keeping and my honor is in his, so we have to trust each other. Besides, it's high time you got home."

"How about those two cops waiting for me?"

"Greet them kindly, ask them their business and invite them to talk it over before they can tell you what it is. When they tell you permit them to search your home, and be cheerful about it."

The phone rang and Dan answered it. When he rejoined Lanny he was smiling broadly. "You're a bum mopper-up," he accused. "That was Flynn, one of the detective sergeants on watch at your house. He found two drops of blood you overlooked, so he thinks you and Nance are in the house but refuse to answer the bell, and he wants permission to break in. In the name of the law. He says he can slide the latch on your front door lock like nobody's business. I told him to wait another hour and then try it, but to be careful."

Lanny's independent and belligerent nature was instantly aroused. "If I couldn't give a snooper like that cards and spades, the four aces, big and little casino, and beat him to death on the sweeps, I'd kiss a cow," she declared. "Guess I'll go home and make those big boobs feel ashamed of themselves for disturbing a lady."

"Whatever you do, be nice to them," he warned earnestly. "If you get snooty with them, Lanny, they'll just waltz you down to central station and stow you away for the night—with the excuse that the chief wants to see you. And I've decided I don't know you. If I did I'd go home with you."

He escorted Lanny out to her car and with a flashlight examined it very carefully again for signs of blood. He found two dried splotches and wiped them away before permitting her to depart.

Then Lanny Almost Screamed. Instantly She Switched Off the Light, Got Her Little Pistol Out of Her Bag and Switched the Light on Again.

As Lanny entered the driveway and paused in front of her garage, there were no detectives in sight, although there might have been had she deemed it the part of wisdom to glance carefully about her. She unlocked the garage door, climbed back in her car, drove in, stopped the motor and switched off the lights. Then she got out, closed and locked the garage door and turned on an electric light switch on the doorpost to light her way upstairs to her kitchen.

Then she almost screamed. Two big fellows wearing soft hats were standing behind her car, gazing at her owlishly. Instantly Lanny switched off the light, got her little pistol out of her bag and switched the light on again.

"Now what do you two handsome devils want?" she demanded.

Like automatons the pair threw back their lapels and disclosed their shields. "Cops or no cops," Lanny announced, "my garage is my castle, and you can't come into it uninvited without a search warrant."

The two detectives looked at each other and Lanny realized that they appreciated her very much indeed. "She's a lawyer," said one of them.

"Not a very good one, though," the other replied. "However, Pat, let her have her own way. A woman"—the outrageous fellow bowed low—"and particularly a young and beautiful woman—with a pistol—always makes me nervous. If you will be good enough to open your garage door, Miss Lanning, we will go out, come up your front stairs, ring the bell like gentlemen, and ask if we can't come in and have a little chat with you. Is that satisfactory?"

"Eminently so." Lanny was as polite as the speaker now. She felt for the bolt in back of her, slid it back and kicked the door open without taking her eyes or her pistol off the pair. They went out, closed both doors behind her and held them closed until she had shot the bolt home again. Then she went upstairs and let herself in just as her doorbell rang; so she switched on the lights, removed her hat and coat, went to the door and opened it. Instantly two large hands thrust two cards at her; whereupon she was aware that she was about to entertain Detective Sergeant P. Flynn and Detective Sergeant A. Angelloti.

"Good evening, gentlemen," Lanny hailed them cordially. "Come in and rest your big flat feet."

P. Flynn nodded wisely to A. Angelloti. "She resents us, Amadeo," said he.

"Oh, I hope not, Pat. Let us hope it is not us she resents but our honorable profession." The wretch bowed again. "Thank you, Miss Lanning." And both gentlemen entered.

Lanny led them down the hall to her tiny drawing room. Angelloti, like a hound, followed close behind her, but Flynn was in no hurry. He swept the runner in the hall with a flashlight first, then followed his partner into the drawing room, and sat down heavily on a divan.

"Is this to be a long interview?" Lanny asked cheerfully.

P. Flynn shook his head. "A minute or two."

"Then I'll not bother giving you anything to drink."

"Well, it might take ten minutes, at that," Flynn countered.

"At least that," Angelloti agreed. "Besides, Pat, she works for a doctor and her stuff is probably good old prescription goods."

"We been hours out in the cold," Flynn added sadly.

Lanny mixed her guests each a highball. P. Flynn drank half of his at a gulp, set down his glass and said:

"Well, where's Nance Belden?"

"I see by the papers she escaped from San Quentin about six hours ago."

"She came here," Flynn charged.

"Prove it," Lanny challenged tartly; whereupon Flynn went out into the entrance hall and returned, dragging the end of the hall runner with him. He turned it over and revealed a large dark red spot. "Blood!" he announced.

Angelloti touched the spot. "Fresh blood!"

"Human blood," Flynn went on. "Quite a clot of it. She must have fainted after Miss Lanning let her in. Undoubtedly she lay several minutes in the hall bleeding while Miss Lanning was fixing a bed for her."

"We know she came here," Angelloti charged. "We found two spots of blood on the sidewalk."

"That settles it," Flynn declared with ponderous finality. "Miss Lanning, you have this female convict secreted in your house and I advise you to give her up. Come now, give her up," he wheedled, "and we'll just give it out that we caught her trying to get into your house during your absence. We'll protect you."

"Search my house," Lanny offered in a queer, choked voice. She loathed herself for having overlooked that large blood stain on her hall runner.

JUST RIGHT FOR WEAR IN KITCHEN

9846

This "kitchen ensemble" would make a delightful present for some member of your family—that is, if you don't decide to keep it yourself, after it is finished. The apron, made especially to fit the frock, is cut amply full for protection, and boasts a convenient patch pocket and slenderizing half-belted waistline. The frock has a disarmingly demure ruffle to emphasize its nice square neckline, and cunning puffed sleeves to set off pretty arms. Vertical tucks at the waistline keep it trim, yet provide comfortable fullness in bodice and skirt. Both the apron and the frock are included in one pattern.

Pattern 9846 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 4⅜ yards 36-inch fabric and ⅜ yards contrasting.

SEND FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

Complete, diagrammed sew chart included.

Send your order to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 232 West Eighteenth Street, New York.

SOME HEROES AND EXPLOITS OF EARLY TIMES

General Fremont In Early Career Proved Aid Of Great Value

(By Maude Larue Ives)

Fremont was an American explorer, soldier and political leader, who displayed remarkable initiative and energy at the head of several expeditions through the Rocky Mountain regions and westward to the coast. His investigations gave the United States Government valuable information concerning the great unexplored Western country.

He was born in Savanah, Georgia, in 1813 and was educated at Charleston College, South Carolina. In 1842, after several years of experience in the government survey service, he was placed in charge of an expedition to the Far West, and on this journey ascended the highest mountain of the Wind River Range, now known as Fremont's Peak.

The following year he lead a second expedition for the purpose of completing a survey to the mouth of the Columbia River, and sent to Washington valuable and interesting descriptions of Great Salt Lake, the Great Basin, the Sierra Nevada Mountains and the river basins of the then Mexican province of California. In 1844 he was made captain, and the following year was commissioned by the government to lead a third expedition to California, the purpose of which was to help the United States gain possession of that province in the event of war with Mexico.

Fremont took an active part in the conquest of California, and was made military commander and civil governor of the territory. In 1846 a United States force arrived, under command of General Kearny, whose authority Fremont refused to recognize. For this act of insubordination he was court martialed, and, having been convicted of mutiny and disobedience, was sentenced to dismissal from the service. Though President Polk remitted the sentence, Fremont felt that he had been deeply wronged and, in 1848, he resigned from the army.

Later he conducted two other exploring parties over the Rocky Mountains, but without accomplishing anything of importance. Between 1849 and 1855 he made his home in California, and in 1850 was elected Senator from this state. He was also the first presidential candidate of the Republican party, being the unsuccessful opponent of Buchanan in the election of 1856. It may be recorded here that he was the first Roman Catholic to receive the nomination for the presidency.

On the outbreak of the War of Secession, he was appointed with the rank of major general and given command of the Western Department, with headquarters at St. Louis. In this position, and in a second one to which he was transferred a few months later, he showed what his superiors considered lack of judgment and executive ability, and in 1864 he retired from active service.

Fremont's most important work thereafter was his service as governor of the territory of Arizona from 1878 to 1881. Shortly before his death he was appointed major general on the retired list, by act of Congress.

CHRONOLOGY OF MONTH OF MARCH

(By Maude Larue Ives)

March is the "windy month" that ushers in the spring. Its name, which has come down from ancient times, was given it in honor of the war god, Mars, but had no reference to the character of the month, for March in Rome, where it received its name, is not the wild, blustering month that it is in more northerly latitudes.

The vernal equinox, which marks the beginning of spring, falls about the twenty-first and the month is thus partly winter and partly spring. In its character, too, it partakes of the traits of both seasons, for its colds and its storms are often broken in upon by days of real spring mildness and sunshine.

The special gem of the month, is the heliotrope or bloodstone, and the special flower is the violet; but in Canada and the northern part of the United States, the violet does not appear until after March is ended.

March is the third month of the modern year, but in the early Roman calendar it was the first. When Julius Caesar made his reforms in chronology, he made it the third month. Though it retained from that time the position he had given it in the calendar year, many of the European countries continued for centuries to regard it as the first of the legal year. England, for example, did not begin to reckon its legal year from January until after the middle of the eighteenth century.

March has had no such variations in length as have some of the other months, its thirty-one days having remained constant from the first.

There have been an unusual number of superstitions connected with March, quite without foundation. One, which is still quoted, concerns its weather. "If March comes in like a lion," the saying is, "it will go out like a lamb."

There are no general holdiays in the month, but Texas celebrates the second day of March as the anniversary of its independence from Mexico. March fourth of every fourth year is of special interest to the people of the United States as the inauguration day of the President. The day of the feast of St. Patrick, the seventeenth, is honored among the Irish in all lands.

"Oh March that blusters and March that blows,
Beauty you summon from winter's snows,
And you are the pathway that leads to the rose."

CAR OWNER TAXATION IS INCREASE OPPOSED

Paying an average of $44 a year in taxes per motor vehicle, car ownership and operation carries the heaviest burden of taxation in proportion to value of any taxable property.

Taxes levied upon motor vehicles in California last year totalled $68,900,000. This figure does not include state and federal sales taxes, or munipal license fees and other taxes on commercial vehicles.

Presenting detailed information in support of these figures, a statement by the California State Automobile Association voices strong opposition to proposals at the Legislature to levy additional motor vehicle taxation. These proposals, the automobile association points out, range from adding to present registration fees to obtain funds for governmental expenses, to the levying of an increased gasoine tax of one cent per gallon for unempdoyment relief.

"There is ample evidence that the motor vehicle owner is now carrying his full limit in taxes," the statement continues, "and that any additional tax will defeat its own purpose by diminishing the use of motor vehicles and the return in tax revenues.

"Most of the motor vehicle tax burden is made up of special taxes, of which the largest single item is the gasoline tax. In addition to paying these special taxes, those who own and operate motor vehicles also pay their full share of general taxes that are levied to defray the cost of government.

"Motor vehicle owners have met the heavy burden of special taxation without complaint, so long as the revenues were applied to necessary special purposes which have justified such taxation. But special taxes on motor vehicle owners for general state or community purposes, however urgent or worthy in themselves, constitute a gross discrimination against owners of motor vehicles as a class.

Cold Affects Battery

When a storage battery is partly run down it will not resist the effect of extremely cold weather and is likely to freeze and, as a result, probably burst, according to the emergency road service of the California State Automobile Association.

Water should not be added to a battery in freezing weather unless it is immediately stirred in with the electrolyte solution by charging the battery.

VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT OF COLMA BANQUET

Have Big Feed Of Chicken And Raviolas For Many Invited Dignitaries

Last Saturday evening the Colma Volunteer Fire Department gave their annual banquet and initiation. Chief Mario Balastera opened the proceedings by welcoming fifty invited guests, as well as the twenty-five members of the company.

Among the guests were Supervisor Al Witt of the first township and Justice of the Peace Wade Clay. The Daly City officials were Mayor H. H. Smith, Councilmen Paul Selmi and John J. Fahy, Fire Chief Andrew P. Chesney and Commissioner A. Gaggero, First Assistant Chief Bert Silicani and the entire membership of Station No. 6 of the Daly City Fire Department. All of those mentioned were called upon and made some interesting remarks, which were well received.

After a good start had been made in one of the finest feeds ever partaken of in Colma, prepared by Head Chef Pete Valenti and other members of the company, the chief requested Supervisor Witt to present five year certificates to Comrades George Feritti and Frank Garibaldi. He then asked Mayor Smith to present retiring Chief Pete Petersen with a handsome gold badge.

After a little more of the ravioli and chicken had been polished off, four new members were called upon to be initiated, and after witnessing the stunts that these men had to go through one decides it takes a red blooded man to be a member of the Colma Volunteer Department, and he has to be able to take it.

Mr. McCarthy, a retired engineer of San Francisco, was also present and made a very good talk on the growth of Daly City and Colma.

As the fun was getting fast and furious by this time, it was impossible to get the names of all the speakers, but everybody present decided it was the greatest banquet they had ever attended and they all requested Secretary Adolph Checci to be sure and leave their names on the guest list.

GAS TAX RATES ARE HIGHEST IN FLORIDA

The average Florida motorist paid $60.12 in gasoline taxes last year and an additional $17.88 in registration fees. This represents the highest per vehicle gasoline tax in the United States.

Florida, together with Tennessee, has the highest gasoline tax rate in the country, the state levying a 7 cent tax in addition to the one cent federal tax.

California motorists paid $25.41 in gasoline taxes and average registration fee of $5.03 last year.

IS YOUR CAR SAFE? SEE THAT IT IS!

Safety on the highway requires that your car be in good operating condition, according to the public safety department of the National Automobile Club. If you can afford to operate an automobile, you can afford to keep one in repair. Regular checking and conditioning costs the owner less in the long run than the car that is neglected.

See to it that your brakes are safe, that your horn sounds, that your lights are in focus and not too bright, that your tires are not near the blowout stage, that your windshield wiper and other rainy weather services work.

Riding in a car that is safe is a pleaseure. Riding in one that is unsound is a risk that not many of us care to take.

Through the mass improvement of autombile conditions, much greater safety and enjoyment on the roads is possible. It is a matter of everyone doing his share and doing it now. Delay may cost you serious damages or, possibly, a life.

LOCAL DEALER SAYS PROGRAM BASED ON FACTS

Declaration That Business Has Reached Period Of Great Production

"Henry Ford has shown his faith in the future by a $415,000,000 production program, and industry has 'snapped out of it' and joined the ig bdrive to complete recovery."

This was the statement of A. Bertini of the Na ional Automobile Company, local Ford dealer, at the close of the San Francisco Auto Show, where thousands of men and women daily crowded about the Ford exhibit to look at the 1935 edition of the Ford V-8.

"Indictaing plainly that he believes business will be decidedly better this year than last, Henry Ford committed the Ford Motor Company to a business expansion program that already has had a far-reaching influence on American industry and business," Mr. Bertini said. "When it was announced that the production schedule of the Ford Motor Company was set at a million cars or better for 1935, it was not taken as idle talk. The whole world sat up and took notice. It was front page news throughout the nation.

"However, Henry Ford didn't wait to bask in the sunshine he had brought through the clouds of depression. He launched a definite program of expansion immediately, observing that as far as the Ford Motor Company was concerned the depression was over. Immediately, like in answer to a signal for a great mobilization, throughout the United States and Canada business took on new life.

"When he made the first move in his 1935 campaign Henry Ford indicated that his plans for the year had been built on a foundation of accurate knowledge of present conditions and future prospects. The immediate public acceptance of the new Ford line and the great sales increase over this time of last year, with Ford plants throughout the country running at top speed and producing 5000 cars a day in an effort to keep pace with the unprecedented demand, is ample proof of Henry Ford's correct analysis."

HONOR GUEST AT SURPRISE SHOWER

Last Saturday evening Miss Tessie O'Connor was guest of honor at a surprise kitchen shower given at the home of Mrs. Lorraine Wall on Bellevue avenue.

After an evening of games and singing and banjo entertainment by Miss Priscilla Mitchell, a dainty supper was served in an artistically decorated dining room, the color scheme being red and white. Small red hearts filled with candy were the place cards and a large centerpiece of flowers, set in a red heart with streamers attached to the place cards and tiny white sacks of rice tied with red ribbons, adorned the table.

Miss O'Connor will become the bride of Mr. John Sullivan tomorrow evening at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church.

Those attending the shower were Mesdames Katherine Gross, Margaret Robeson, Marie Poole, Fay Cotter, Elizabeth Wettstein, Zelda Kohmann, M. Lewis, Julia Marchioni, Elsie Thomson, Marge Kennedy, Margaret Fahy, Helena O'Connor and Hazel Lagomarsino and Misses Peggy De Rosa, Alice Lorenz, Vera Dimietrieff, Priscilla Mitchell and Marge O'Connor.

CELEBRATION AT ANNIVERSARY OF THEIR WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Anderson of Templeton avenue celebrated their nineteenth wedding anniversary last Saturday evening by acting as hosts at a house party in their home.

A delightful evening was spent dancing and playing cards. At midnight a buffet supper was enjoyed.

The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. V. Barskey, Mr. and Mrs. E. Elliott, Mr. and Mrs. J. Maloney, Mr. and Mrs. C. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haller, Mrs. Mary Maher and Mae Maher.

La Fiesta Social

The last social of La Feista was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Eliason of Woodside, when the members of the club tendered Miss Eleanor Boyle a surprise silverware shower. The dining room table was prettily decorated, the color scheme, place cards, etc., being carried out in pink and white.

Those attending were Mesdames Christine Hume, Edna Peterson, Lorraine Wall, Elsie Thomson, Elsie Clemens, Sylvia Fischer and Misses Tess O'Connor, Anita Barner, Marge O'Connor and Miss Boyle.

The City Council met in regular session Monday evening and transacted routine business.

GRAND OFFICERS ENTERTAINED BY LOCAL PARLOR

El Carmelo Has Interesting Meeting And Presents Gifts To Heads

An inteesting meeting was held on Wednesday evening, February 20, when El Carmelo Parlor No. 181, Native Daughters of the Golden West, officially entertained Grand President Gladys E. Noce of Amapola Parlor, No. 80 of Sutter Creek.

President Leona Falk and her corps of officers were highly commended for the wonderful manner in which they rendered the ritualistic work.

In accordance with Grand President Noce's program for gain in membership, five new candidates were added to the roll. They were Misses Margaret Steel, daughter of the charter president, Alecia Margaret Fields, Mary B. Callan, Lillian Crawford and Margaret Allison.

A large number of grand officers and representatives of twenty-five parlors and twenty deputies were present to honor Grand President Noce, who belongs to the same parlor as Pauline Quirolo, organizer of El Carmelo Parlor.

Gifts as a reminder of the evening were presented to Grand President Gladys E. Noce, Supervising Deputy Grand President Hattie Kelly, Deputy Frances Maloney, Organizer Pauline Quirolo and each of the grand officers.

As each grand officer was escorted to her seat of honor appropriate songs written by Pauline Quirolo were sung by Organist Hattie and added materially to the enjoyment of the evening.

The other grand officers in attendance included: Grand Vice President Anna C. Thuesen, Grand Trustees Alice Lane, Orinda Giannini and Clara Gairaud, Grand Outside Sentinel Claire Lindsey and Past Grand Presidents Eliza Keith, Margaret Hill, Mae Noonan and Evelyn Carlson.

Grand Inside Sentinel Alice Oldham was chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the evening, which has been acclaimed as one of the outstanding affairs in the history of the parlor.

BASEBALL TEAM TO GIVE SOCIAL DANCE

(By Al Gould)

The Daly City baseball team will hold a social dance, Saturday evening at the Daly City Auditorium, to raise funds for the upkeep of this splendid asset of publicity for our city.

Manager Martin would appreciate the co-operation of all citizens in order that this dance, as well as the raffle which will be held in conjunction, may be a great success.

By their membership in the Northern California Baseball Manager's Association, our players in case of accident, are fully covered for hospitalization. This is a great asset to the young men who strive to please all fans with healthy athletic competition, and funds are also needed to purchase balls and bats, as well as for umpire's fees and transportation, and this is the only means of securing support.

Stolen Car Recovered

Last Sunday evening at 9 o'clock, Alex Gasparotto of Westlake avenue notified the local police department, some person had stolen his automobile from in front of his residence between the hours of 6:30 and 9 p. m.

Palo Alto police notified the local police department the car had been located in a lot back of the Stanford University grounds, and placed in a garage at Palo Alto on Monday of this week.
